STRENGTH IN MARKET

But Prices Ran Off on Heavy Profit Selling.

CLOSING EASY AND DULL

Decidedly Easier Tone of Call Money Market Was a Factor of Strength, Though Rates Show No

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 5.—The stock market showed a considerable degree of strength this morning, but prices ran off on the goods news of the day, showing the continued disposition of holders to realize in a good market.

From the Stock Exchange standpoint the dissolution of the temporary injunction against the voting of the Southern Pacific stock hold by Union Pacific was regarded as good news in the sense that it was favorable to higher prices. Speculative Wall Street has entered little the two sides to the southern Pacific was of the two sides to the Southern Pacific was of the two sides to the Southern Pacific of the marries of the respective contends of the two sides to the Southern Pacific quarrel regarding corporation poly in the disposition of earnings, but the questions raised in the dispute carried greve consequences to many far-rechting arrangements by railroad corporations. The questions of the right of the respective contention to own stock of a competing line is one, that invest some of the extensive arrangements of the Southern Pacific was emphassed by the granting of an appeal to the transport of the Southern Pacific was emphassed by the granting of an appeal meeting. Immediately after the decision Union Pacific rose 2½, over Saturday Most of the active list at that time showed gains of between 1 and 2 points, with 8t. Paul and Canadian Pacific conspicuous features. The tone at the closing was easy and intensely duil. The decidedly easier tone of the call money market was also an influence in the early strength of the market, Money rates were lower in London.

Brokers in the time money market report that practically the only funds offered in that department are by foreign houses. Rates for time money and mercantile paper do not show the relaxing fendency yet. Some very favorable showings of railroad gross carnings for the fourth week and month of March had a senouraging influence. The increase of percent, while over the corresponding week of last week amounted to 25 per cent. wh

March Mobile and Ohio's gross earnings rose 39 per cent.

Notwithstanding the high level on poperating expenses, such increases in gross earnings make a striking showing for failroad prosperity. The reported settlement of the Wabash labor dispute had ascothing effect upon the prevalent apprehension over the labor outlook. There was heavy selling of Sugar, reported for Roston account, supposed to be the effect

What the New York Afternoon Papers Say About Yesterday's Trading.

Say About Yesterday's Trading.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, April 6.—The Mail and Express says: As was generally expected. Judge Lurton, in the United States Circuit Court at Cincinnati, to-day reused to make permanent the injunction to restrain the Union Pacific from voting its Southern Pacific stock at the annual meeting of the latter company. This decision was received with much satisfaction in the financial district, as it clarified the railroad situation in respect to important mergers and control of other properties by leading Trunk Line systems.

properties by leading Trunk Line systems.

Previous to this decision London set the pace for our market, ensier money and a further rise in Consols being felt in Americans abroad, which advanced a point or more above the parity in several instances. The strength of our stocks was the settlement of the short question on the Wabant road and rumors that the Southern Pacific decision would be in favor of the Julion Pacific interests.

The rise in the general list following the action of the court was slight, and the theory prevails that the matter had been anticipated on the previous advance. On the raily Southern Pacific recovered to Saturday's closing. The rapid changes illustrates the frequent shifting of sentiment consequent upon the Commercial-Advertiser says: The shifting of sentiment consequent upon the Southern Pacific affair.

The Commercial-Advertiser says: The Cincinnati court ruling in the Southern Pacific case did not become generally known in Wall Street until after i o'clock. There was abundant evidence, however, that the news was known in favored quarters before that time, Prices began to move up in the carly London dealings, and the rise continued during the early local trading. Business was comparatively slack until early afternoon, when heavy buying set in in Union Pacific, St. Paul. Rock Island and other favorite issues. The formal announcement of the Southern Pacific decison accompaned this movement. But the dealings quickly assumed the character of a market in which the "good news" was out and had been discounted. Prices soon began to fall back, slowly at first, then more hastly in the last hour. The final reaction was chiefly due to the inter information from Cincinnati, stating that an appeal had been granted to-day's defeated litigants, and that the annual election of officers in the Southern Pacific Company would be postnoned until the new verdict had been received. This did not destroy, but it certainly took the edge off, the heart of the sees on, and a fresh loss was reported by the banks at the Sub-Treas.

The stock market closed steady, with a cyents, in the line of financial news and of stock-market price fluctuations, were such as no one, among all the bost of prophots who have outlined the next development, had imagned, Judge Lurton's verdict was handed down as promised; it rejected the "Keene Pool's" constention and affirmed the right of the Union Pacific interiors to two tests stock. But this decision was promptly followed by the granting of an appeal from the decision and by indefinite postponement of the Southern Pacific election in the interior it is not often that a market is so completely bewildered as was to-day's at this series of events. The appeal and the consequent keeping of the entire matter in suspense was always a possibility but it was not a possibility which Wall Street had seriously considered. Before the first news of the injunction's dissolution had come in, prices had been rather steadily advancing, less, it would seem, through actual new buying than because of eautious "covering" purchases by speculators for the decline. It had been commonly reasoned that one of two things must happen—either a sharp and general advance through the market's relief at disposing of the matter, or a sudden fall in prices through alarm at the decision. What happened was thus, in an unusual degree, the unexpected.

The Evening Sun says: Quite heavy and at all events effective buying, are the decision. What happened was thus, in an unusual degree, the unexpected.

The Evening Sun says: Quite heavy and at all events effective buying, according to the early London cables, appeared in that market to-day for New York account, and in consequence American stocks were shown there at general advances, the gains in some instances extending to a full point or more. Broadly speaking, the general circumstances, grouped under the head of the labor situation, also took on a more favorable appearance over Sunday, cliedly because of the Wabash settlement, although it was observed that pence had again been obtained at the price of material concessions to the company's employes. It was chiefly because of these two circumstances that the local stock market opened fairly active and showing more or less extensive advances in virtually-every quarter. In fact, the only noteworthy exception to the general tendency of the market was Sugar Refining, which sold off rather sharply in the early dealings, with nothing of particular significance to be cited in explanation of its course.

The comparative ease in the money market was another influence in the strength of the market, particularly as the relaxation there took place in the face of Saturday's weak and disappointing bank sintement. There was again a great deal of conjecture as to the causes for the unaccountably large decrease in cash shown in that document, but the only satisfactory theory produced in explanation thereof was that voiced Saturday, namely—that those trust companies which are going to adopt the suggestions of the Clearing-House Committee are already withdrawing cash from the banks for the purpose of establishing reserves against their deposits.

UNION PACIFIC:

The tlp to buy Union Pacific was said to come from Harriman sources. Late in the afternoon the stock improved substantially, and it could hardly be said that the early gain specially referred to the Southern Pacific decision. The buying was ascribed to the builtsh sentiment of the people most closely interested in the stock.

SUGAR SHOULD BOOM:
American Sugar was the early exception to the general strength, and showed signs of renewed pressure. So far as the Arbuckle competition is concerned, the street is very frankly of the opinion that Sugar wars are made to be settled, but lower Wall Street authorities think there is a rather weak bull account built up the expectation that the stock would boom on the Cuban reciprocity treaty.

ROCK ISLAND BUYING:
Rock Island was advanced on buying that was at least better than the rumors accompanying it. One report of the sale of some $7.600,000 common stock in Holland is merely the warming up of an old story, and the talk of a five per cent. dividend on the common may be dismissed as ridiculous.

EXTREMELY NARROW:
The market became extremely narrow in the second hour, although there did not seem to be much stock thero. The London buying was a help, but was soon over, and there was a general disposition to deal lightly, pending the Southern Pacific announcement. Trader thought that a favorable decision might help prices a little, but otherwise were somewhat bearlsh. Commission houses had very few orders.

PENNSYLVANIA:
The buying in Pennsylvania was said to represent the covering of some Philadelphia shorts.

AFTERNOON TRADING:
After showing considerable strength before the publication of the Southern Pacific decision, on which the room information proved to be premature, but correct, the market became dult, although advances were fairly well maintained. Traders were inclined to follow the rally, and the more important speculators did not seem to have had any considerable shorts out.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC:
Southern Pacific showed some rally on the day, but hesitated, as the market was by no means clear as to the position of the pool. It was rumored, however that a good deal of the root stock had been sold abroad in the recent past. The possibility of some of it being thrown on the market was, of course, considered, but the best opinion was that the stock was not dear at the present price.

THE CLOSE.

THE CLOSE:
The room was not prepared for the very mortant string to the Southern Pacific decision in the postponement of the meeting and the mutual agreement to appeal. Stocks sold off as much in the last hour as they had gained throughout the day, and people who had bought early were the quickest to throw their purchases over.

At the Theatres.

As "Charles Brown," a wiater, in "The French Maid," Mr. Sylvester James walked at least twenty miles at the Academy last night, there were so many things for him to do and so many people for him to serve. He incidentally serve a whole lot of merriment to the audience, but even at that he was not the whole show, for "The French Maid" car-ries a large cast, lots of good music and ries a large cast, lots or good music and plenty of pretty girls.

For a first night the piece went remarkably well, and Miss Dora de Fillippe, Miss Bessie Tannehill and Messrs. John Young, Harvey Davis, Joseph Philips, and all the others, including the chorus, made new friends and added new laurels.

"The Man Who Dared," at the Bijou "The Man Who Dared," at the Bijou this week, is a far better play than its title would lead any one to suppose. It is a melodrama that is refined, romantic, sometimes thrilling, and generally absorbing. It is really magnificently staged, and it is admirably acted by a company headed by Howard Hall. There is not, indeed, a really weak spot in the cast. The play reaches its, acme in interest when the here enters a cage of lions to rescue a woman's glove. The animals are magnificent specimens, and the novelty, startling as it is, does not fall to bring down the house. The piece should crowd the house at every performance. There will be matiness to-day and to-morrow, and the usual night performances.

The announcement of the return to the Bijou of the George Fawcett Company, with Percy Haswell, for four performances, beginning with Thursday matinee, an event of importance in itself, gains an added importance from the additional announcement that the play for this engagement will be "Mistress Nell." Besides Miss Haswell the company will show here for the first lime Mr. Eugene Ormonde, a famous leading man, who has been engaged to support hen in this production, and many old favorites of the company, including Alice Butler, Alfred Hudson, Regan Hughston, Hale Hamilton, Harold Cohill, Agnes Everett, Viola Burton, George Schraeder, Frank Fraunholz and half a dozen others well known here for their work in the past. There will be no performance on Good Friday.

UNITED MODERNS

Monroe Lodge Elected a Class of New Members Last Night.

Members Last Night.

Monroe Lodge, No. 257, United Moderns, held its regular session last night in Monroe Hall, with an excellent attendance. In addition to routine business, six applicants for membership were balloted upon and elected, and a class of seven were "put through the mill" and expressed themselves as "satisfied." Mr. Isaac Held, recorder and financier of Dixle Lodge, No. 62, was present, and made quite a nice talk for the benefit of the order. Mr. J. M. Binford was elected guide in place of Mr. Mattern, resigned, and was duly installed.

Monroe Lodge is adding to its rosier every meeting night, and indications point to 100 members in the near future.
